JAPAN WILL BUY IN THIS MARKET

Delegation From Orient Visits City on Industrial Mission.

Mishawaka is to be specially favored by the Japanese after the war, and were it possible to get local manufactured merchandise into that country before the end of the world conflict, Japan is prepared to spend many hundreds of thousands of dollars in this city.

In an interview with The News-Times last night, Y. Takatori, representative of the textile department of Mogi & Co., New York, gave voice to the above statement. Mr. Takatori has been in Mishawaka for the last three days, having been accompanied by a party representing some of the largest industries in the land of the Mikado. Others in the party were J. Teijima, managing director of the Raw Woolen Mfg. Co., Tokio; K. Sugawara of the textile department of Mitsui & Co.'s New York office; K. Sano of the export department of Mogi & Co. These gentlemen represent the largest importing and exporting companies of all kinds of goods in Japan, and came to Mishawaka to investigate its various industries. With the exception of Mr. Takatori the others have left for New York after a two days' visit.

Will be Generous Buyers.

In the course of conversation Mr. Takatori told the reporter that they were induced to come here through reading the trade papers of the prominent paper occupied by Mishawaka in the industrial world, and he acknowledged that the visit had resulted in immense benefit to the party and that Japan would be a generous buyer in this city in the future. The commission had come principally to purchase from the Woolen Mfg. Co., but owing to the embargo on all exports excepting munitions, it would be impossible to get deliveries until after the removal of the embargo. While in the city the Japanese visited all the manufacturing plants and were deeply impressed with what they saw.

Buy Felting Co. Machinery.

They inspected the plant of the Beatty Felting Co., E. Mishawaka, and made arrangements to purchase some of the machinery owned by this concern, which is in the hands of a receiver. Mr. Takatori will leave for New York today, but will return in the course of two weeks and complete the sale. It is hard to get machinery in Japan at the present time, as everything being turned out is for war purposes.

Japan Doing Its Bit.

Speaking of the war and the part Japan is taking, Mr. Takatori said: "We have the Pacific alive with our warships, and we have many of them around Vladivostok guarding the immense stores of munitions and supplies. We have around the harbor upwards of 2,000,000 trained and seasoned soldiers ready to throw into the conflagration whenever our allies consider it necessary. Besides this we have an immense army in the making, and when the time comes to strike the blow which will once and for all put Germany off the map, then will the world fully realize the part our country has taken in the conflict. We are heart and soul with the allies, and when the United States threw in her lot on the side of civilization and against barbarism, we rejoiced. A better feeling between these two countries never before existed, and it's going to be lasting."

During their stay in the city the party stopped at the Hotel Mishawaka.

THRIFT BANQUET IS BIG SUCCESS

Over 175 People Hear Inspiring Addresses by Prominent South Bend Men.

What proved to be one of the most stirring and enthusiastic demonstrations since the entrance of America into the world war, took place at the Hotel Mishawaka Wednesday evening at the thrift banquet given by a committee of business men in charge of the campaign here to create interest in the project and to promote the sale of the government bonds in the city.

Probably 175 men and women were present. As a means of thoroughly impressing on the minds of the people the seriousness of our position as a nation and the importance of utilizing every ounce of energy in the prosecution of the war, the committee in charge of the affair, which was headed by Mayor Ralph W. Gaylor, who acted as chairman, two of the ablest and best prepared speakers in the state were secured for the occasion. Rev. Fr. John Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame university, and Hon. Frank E. Hering of South Bend gave the principal addresses of the evening.

Music for the dinner was furnished by the McDonough orchestra, while vocal selections were rendered by the quartet of the First Presbyterian church of South Bend.

J. D. Oliver Speaks.

J. D. Oliver, county chairman of the thrift stamp committee, Rome C. Stephenson and J. S. Borden, all prominently identified with the movement in South Bend, assisted on the program with brief talks. Mr. Stephenson stated that it is his belief that Mishawaka will, in this enterprise, as in all others which she has attempted, go over the top magnificently and unscathed. Mr. Oliver in a few appropriate remarks commended the people of the city on their splendid showing and declared that he had no fears that Mishawaka will fail in her trust.

Most Brutal of Wars.

Fr. Cavanaugh touched on the war problem from a purely ethical and emotional standpoint. He stated that the present conflict is the most brutal, the most barbarous, the most unspeakably terrible that the world has ever known. He pointed out that the world is at the greatest calamity in the history of civilization. He called it the suicide of modern civilization, and painted a powerful and affecting picture of the fearful devastation which has resulted from the German militaristic ideals.

The contrast between the work of the ages which has been to build up and create, and the purposes of war which are to destroy and tear down, was clearly pointed out by the speaker. He told of the beautiful idealism which is inculcated in the minds of the modern young men, privileged with the benefits and refinements of all that modern civilization can give, and nurtured from childhood by a lovely and Christian mother, and graphically described the demands which war make upon him, destroying all the culture and education of the years and requiring of him only the ability to kill.

People Not Excused.

Fr. Cavanaugh made no distinction between the government of Germany and its people. He stated that a nation has only the government it deserves, and desires. Germany's people are not to be freed of responsibility in this present calamity, but are to come in for their share of opprobrium and detestation for the pursuit of the most hateful and unnameable methods of warfare ever recorded in the history of the races. That this system of terrorism will fail utterly in its purpose which is to intimidate the men of a higher civilization, was the statement of Fr. Cavanaugh. That the belief of the German war lords who conceived the idea of terrorism, of that men are incapacitated for battle when their spiritual forces are ruined by outcast, which touch the most sacred depths of their feelings, is wrong, and utterly mistaken, was the assertion of the speaker. He declared that men will not be weakened by such crimes but that in their very grief and horror they will be sustained to resist and punish. America will not, cannot fail, stated Fr. Cavanaugh. That Christ, tempted by the devil who offered him the kingdoms of the world if he would but worship him, will be now as then, with the right and that America and her allies in their struggle for freedom and the liberation of the world are gloriously and unquestionably in the right, he stated to be his conviction.

Fr. Cavanaugh spoke of the National Flag as a symbol of Americanism and the highest type of patriotism. He compared its glorification and sanctification to that of the cross, which for ages stood for a symbol of shame and ignominy, to the thief the most terrifying and disgraceful form of punishment. So it stood, until that day in old Judea when the Man of Galilee was placed upon it naked and bleeding and crucified because he loved his fellowmen and sought to serve them. Since then, said the speaker, it has stood for the most sacred and divine sacrifice in the history of the world, bathed with the tears of its worshippers and held up as an eternal symbol of the Man whose death raised it to beauty and divinity.

There must be no slackers in this war, said Fr. Cavanaugh. He declared that the responsibility does not devolve alone upon the men of military age, but upon every man and woman in the country. And that men who refuse to do his part now, who will not make the utmost possible sacrifice to aid in carrying out the war to a victorious close, is a slacker of the worst type.

"Not for the purpose of cultivating the spirit of thrift in the people of the country," said Fr. Cavanaugh in conclusion, "but to give every man and woman and child the privilege of assisting the holiest struggle of the ages, has the thrift stamp project been conceived. In this everyone may do his share toward liberating the world from autocracy and militarism and the iron heel of oppression."

In his address which followed after that of Fr. Cavanaugh, Frank E. Hering, emphasizing and convincingly stated that America must not fail in the responsibility she has undertaken.

Mr. Hering has made a thorough and geographical study of the world war. He took to task with unqualifying and ungentle terms the politicians and critics who are finding fault with the government in this crisis, and stated that destructive criticism at this time is the worst possible form of un-Americanism.

Result Fatal to World.

What the results to the world will be should Von Hindenburg be successful in his proposed drive on the French front between now and May, Mr. Hering pointed out with alarming exactness. He showed that the whole outcome of the war hangs on our successful entry into the conflict and on the sending of sufficient men and supplies to the front before the crucial time.

We must sacrifice now as never before in our lives, said Mr. Hering. He told of the losses sustained by Canada, by Great Britain, by France and Belgium and declared that America has done nothing as yet, that not until we too have felt the terrible hand of war, and not until our own men have begun to come back maimed and crippled can we say truthfully that we have done our part in winning the war.

It is not for France, for England or Belgium that we must fight, but for ourselves, stated the speaker. He declared that we must get rid of the idea that it is to aid and protect France that our men are going over now. He showed how France and England with their armies and the navy of the latter stand between us and actual attack from the German forces, but asserted that should France give way before we arrive to her aid, and should the English navy be unable to stand off that of

M'ADOO ENLISTS AID OF BANKERS

Requests Assistance of Banking Institutions of City in Raising Funds.

As a preparation for the coming new Liberty loan drive which will take place sometime in 1918, Sec'y M'Adoo, has issued a statement to the banks of the country asking for their aid in raising funds. His telegram as received by the Mishawaka Trust company of Mishawaka follows:

"Between now and the time for making the new Liberty loan I shall offer for subscription, treasury certificates of indebtedness in amounts of 500 million dollars or more every two weeks. I desire to postpone the next Liberty loan issue until conditions will insure a wide distribution of the bonds throughout the country.

"In order successfully to carry through this program and to provide for the expenditures for the military operations of the United States and the allies, I have the whole-hearted cooperation of the bankers of the United States and to that end I request the board of directors or trustees of each bank and trust company to reserve each week out of its loanable funds for the use of the government of the United States about one per cent of the gross resources of their institution not to exceed in the aggregation ten per cent and to invest that amount in treasury certificates of indebtedness.

"The exact amount, interest, rate date and maturity (not exceeding 90 days) of each issue of certificates will be announced from time to time by me through the Federal Reserve banks.

Growth is Economy. "There is a steady growth in the movement for economy. Banks should be able by participating in the campaign for economy, which means economy of credit, as well as of expenditure, to teach their customers to save and accumulate the money to buy the government certificates and bonds.

"By this method a distribution of treasury certificates of indebtedness should become possible which will relieve the subscribing banks of at least a part of their purchases and furnish the means of making payments for the next issue of Liberty bonds without undue strain. The needs of the government for the war are great and imperative. The resources of the country are ample to meet these needs, if every bank will do its share. I know that once it is realized that by complete cooperation all round and by every one doing his part, this vital and patriotic service can be performed.

"We are approaching a critical test on the battle fronts in Europe. America's sons are now actually shedding their blood in the trenches. If the banks, which are the first line of defense, fail to support the government fully in its necessary operation we shall imperil America's army and America's safety. "I know that I have only to state this case to command the support of every patriotic bank and banker. This is a supreme duty of patriotism. May I count upon you to do your part and to telegraph me immediately at my expense that you will. I am sending this telegram to every bank and trust company in the United States. "W. G. McADOO."

The German empire, then we will be utterly unprotected on our coasts and liable to attack from three sources.

No one is excused, said Mr. Hering. We must all labor to the utmost and sacrifice until we suffer before we can hope to claim any credit for our help in the national calamity. Surely, he said, if the men who are going out to make the supreme sacrifice gladly and uncompensated, we who are safe at home can afford to give of our strength and means, can afford to forego the pleasures and luxuries to which we have been accustomed, to aid our government in the most stupendous task it has ever undertaken.

RIVER PARK COAL SUPPLY SHUT OFF

No Coal to be Sold to River Park Patrons Says Miller.

Fuel Administrator W. F. Miller Thursday morning announced that he had cut River Park off absolutely in the supply of coal. The situation in Mishawaka, which has been but slightly relieved by the receiving of a few cars of coal, is still such that it is felt unwise to send any more of the fuel out of the city.

This is due partly to the actual want in Mishawaka and partly to the fact that River Park, despite the stringency has kept its schools open during the entire period, while Mishawaka schools have been obliged to close. Over 100 families in River Park have been cared for thus far, and instructions were given to the dealers to furnish the orders given prior to Thursday, but following that no further deliveries can be made.

The situation at the schools is much the same. It is not definitely known when they will open, as there has not been sufficient coal received in the city to materially affect the situation. It is hoped that the buildings will be able to open within a week or two, but it will in all probabilities be longer.

PERSHING CALLS FOR MORE SHIPS

Maj. Palmer Asks All America Concentrate Everything on Big Problem.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—"Make a bridge of ships" to France was the message from Gen. Pershing and every man of his command, delivered to the American people Wednesday night by Maj. Frederick Palmer, chief censor on Gen. Pershing's staff, in an address at the National Press club.

"Build ships and let every woman and child in the land think ships," said he. "We ought to be wearing little metal ships in our buttonholes. Children ought to play with toy ships. The woman who turns from knitting to encourage a ship's riveter to drive more rivets a day is serving her country. And every time you think ships, you are thinking of our men fighting for you."

Mr. Pershing said that you had them want for food, for clothes, for ammunition to answer the German fire?

"Would you have them think that you had forgotten them—you in comfort at home? Would you have the lives of such men unnecessarily sacrificed because you had not concentrated your efforts on the thing that meant most to them?"

"Build and build, and continue to build ships. Make a bridge of ships to Gen. Pershing."

Here is History Of Troop Ship Sunk by U-Boat

The Tuscania was a British passenger and freight steamer of 14,348 tons gross register. She was built at Glasgow in 1914 and was owned by the Anglo-Siam Corporation.

The last report of the Tuscania was her arrival at an Atlantic port Jan. 17 last.

The Tuscania during her days as a passenger liner, was one of the best equipped vessels in the trans-Atlantic service. She made her maiden voyage in February, 1915, and for a time was in the service of the British admiralty but later was restored to her owners for regular service.

Attacked Several Times. She was 567 feet long, with a 66 foot beam and was equipped to carry 3,500 passengers in cabin and stowage accommodations. The ship had twin screws and a speed of about 15 knots. On several occasions since war began she was the object of torpedo attacks but managed to escape through her speed, assisted by her defense guns.
